

BOSTON MTA 3295

3295 Picture Window P.C.C. was one of the last series of cars built for the MTA. It was built by Pullman Standard in 1951. The car was the first car to open service on the Highland Branch to Riverside. Employees completely restored the car for the 20th anniversary of the Highland Branch. The car is shown here in charter service at Watertown, Mass. June 7, 1981.
